

Website Name: Pulse

Description: Keeping track of your medical history can be pretty daunting at times. With this website, users will be able to keep note of everything in one place. Pulse is a personal health management website that allows users to keep track of medications they are currently taking, medications they have taken in the past, doctors and healthcare providers, and appointments. By organizing this information in one central location, users can easily access and review important parts of their medical history. The goal of Pulse is to make managing personal healthcare information simpler and more organized.

Pages: Dashboard, Current Medications, Medication History, Doctors & Providers, Appointments, Health Records, About Pulse